NEWS OF SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Third Annual Convention Of Tennessee Music Clubs

An event of interest all over the state is the third annual meeting of the Tennessee Federation of Music Clubs, of which Mrs. John Lamar Meek, of Chattanooga, is president, which will be held in Memphis on May 9, 19, 11, with the members of the Beethoven club as the convention hostesses.

Through the courtesy of the Nineteenth Century club the meeting will be held in that elegantly appointed club home and many of the social affairs will also be enjoyed there.

Owing to the increased interest in music all over the country it is anticipated that there will be many delegates and the convention promises to be one of unusual importance.

assembly room at Hotel Gayoso, for the purpose of electing a new executive committee. The league was organized last September and signalized its entry into local politics by putting out the ticket for municipal offices headed by Rowlett Paine, which was swept into office in November by the heavest majorities cast for any candidates for city offices in years. The league platform of principles was condensed into the slogan, "good government, better schools."

After the ticket was nominated and a campaign committee chosen, no other meeting of the league itself was held, but the membership was more than 2,000 at one time. The executive committee has 15 members.

There is no intention of having the league take any part in the coming August election, but it is possible that after the new executive committee takes charge that it was held decided to see

CHURCH SAVED LIBERTY

How the Dutch Reformed church saved New York and thus helped save America from an established church will be the theme of the sermon by William E. Clark at the Unitarian church services in the Majestic Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. This sermon comes in the series on the contributions of American churches to religious and civil liberty.

SCOTTI FINDS YOUNG AMERICAN CITIZENS' LEAGUE TO POSSESSOR OF UNUSUAL TENOR CHOOSE COMMITTEE

formances in Memphis at the Lyric theater on May 20, 21 and 22, is that he thoroughly appreciates the great progress made in music in this country and of the wenderful development of its artists. Although a native of Italy, he has become so Americanized that he apparently is in full sympathy with the movement to have the sons and daughters of this country given their proper place in music, be it concert or operatic, instead of being made secondary to those who come from foreign lands.

One of the things about the company
coming to Memphis for its second visit is that a large proportion of the leading roles are to be sung by native-born artists. They have been chosen, not because they are Americans, but for their artistic merit and ability.

Orville Harrold, leading tenor, having won remarkable success with the Metropolitan during the past season, is a native of the United States, but Mr.
Scotti will bring another tenor who bids fair to shine brilliantly. The young man's name is Mario Chamlees, aged 27, and was discovered with a troupe called the Argonne Players, who had fought and also sung and played in France. Great things of him are prophesied by Mr. Scotti, Enrico Caruso and other good judges.

scent. The patronymic was original-cholmondeley, pronounced in England Chumley, and converted in this country into Chamiee. However, young Mario proved himself a thorough Amer-ican by being among the first to volun-teer.

The term of the lirst to voluntager.

That long before this he had disclosed the possession of a tenor voice of fine natural quality, and an influential Westerner who heard him sing "Annie Laurie" to his own plano accompaniment with one finger offered him $5.000 if he would go to Italy and study singing. Young Mario modestly distrusted his own powers and declined the offer. Nevertheless he took singing lessons. He joined a minstrel troupe and a colege glee club. Then he went to Los Angeles and made an isolated operatic appearance in a production there of Thais."

Thais."

When the war broke out he promptly volunteered and both fought and sang in France, joining the Argonne Players, at the request of his C. O., and often singing to his comrades in hospitals and eisewhere. After the armistice the Argonne Players sang in Faris before the peace conference members, and Italian and French impresarios who heard him made Mario Chamlee flattering offers, including an engagement at the Opera Comique. However, he returned to America and sang with the Argonne Players in New York, where he was heard by Mr. Scotti, who offered to assist in his musical education.

PLANS FOR TERCENTENARY CELEBRATION DISCUSSED

A large gathering of Memphis women assembled at the Nineteenth Century club Friday afternoon in response to a call for all organisations to send representatives to a meeting called for the purpose of taking action on the celebaation of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims.

An organization, to be known as the Memphis Pilgrim Tercentenary, was perfected, save that of chairman, which will be filled at another meeting. Mrs. R. L. Jordan was chosen temporary chairman, and presided over the meeting. Officers elected were Mrs. M. M. Gattman, vice-chairman, Mrs. Benton Ledbetter, recording secretary: Mrs. Edwin R. Washburn, corresponding secretary: Mrs. Percy H. Patton, treasurer, and Mrs. J. F. Hill, registrar. Among the several names mentioned for chairman was that of Mrs. James H. Watson, who has always taken so much interest in civic affairs, but who does not feel she has the time for this position, and offered her assistance in other ways.

Being asked to spenk upon the subnot feel she has the time for this position, and effered her assistance in other ways.

Being asked to spenk upon the subject of the tercentenary, she briefly reviewed the story of the Pilgrims, how that of a band of 100 was reduced to 49 in three months' time, in the bitter cold of the December snows. She told how the Northern and Eastern cities were taking interest in the celebration as well as all English-speaking people elsewhere, anming various plans that are being suggested by people at the head of the movement in the cities that are making headway in their celebrations. Among others who spoke of the significance of Memphis carrying out a creditable observance of the anniversary of the Pilgrim Fathers' landing was Dr. William Crowe, who brought out the benutiful religious feature of the celebration.

No definite date nor form of observance was decided upon, but early in the fall was considered most suitable, though not as late as Thanksgiving day, as then the weather may not permit of any out-of-door exercises.

The celebration need not be confined to one day, hut may continue for several days, a different feature for each day.

The historic value of the celebration and as a civic movement was greatly emphasized in yesterday's meeting, at

The historic value of the celebration and as a civic movement was greatly emphasized in yesterday's meeting, at which nearly all of the important women's organizations were represented.

Mayor Paine was prevented from being present by an urgent affair, relative to his office, but sent his commendation of the movement and offered his co-operation.

The Cossitt library, through Mr. Charles D. Johnston, librarian, and Miss Jennie Davis, agaistant, has offered assistance. Prof. Wharton Jones, superintendent of schools, is promoting interest among the school children, whose enthusiasm and attention is to be greatly considered by those who are seeking to impress upon the community the importance of this event in the nation's history.

Zionist Meeting.

The executive committee of the local Zionist organization will meet Tues-day evening at 7:39 o'clock, at the Baron Hirsch synagogue, to hear reports of committee, consisting of Dave Dermon, Sam Malkin, Hardwig Peres, Milton Rose and Sam Steinberg, concerning the arrangements made for the mass meeting to be held on the evening of May 6. Dramatic Class.

The dramatic class of the Y. M., W. H. A. will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock under direction of Miss Frederica Magnus in the assembly hall of the Y. M. H. A. building.

All members of the class will be prepared to render individual recitations. Woman's Civic Club.

The Woman's Evergreen Civic club will meet on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Robert Galloway. Mrs. William Henry Dilatush will be chairman for the day. A. B. Hill School.

Over 500 mothers attended the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association on Wednesday, when a special feature was the salute and drill by over 900 children. This feature was specially commented on by Mayor Paine, who was present, and spoke in the interest of increased salaries for teachers. There were several other talks along the same line, and the program closed with an operetta, "Cinderella."

Form U. D. C. Auxiliary.

All members of Gen. Forrest chapter, U. D. C., who desire to have their chil-dren up to 18 years of age become members of the Mary Forrest Bradley auxiliary to the chapter, have been re-quested to have them meet with the director, Mrs. William Wooten. 1929 Harbert svenue, on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.
